Richard Barker is a world-renowned professional hypnotist, comedy stage hypnotist, television personality, author and keynote speaker.

As the Incredible Hypnotist, Richard brings his charm and experience to challenge the minds of audiences and celebrities alike. Barker started his career in hypnosis as a member of the United Kingdom's elite forces known as the Royal Green Jackets; a crack military organization. After his military career, Richard expanded his hypnotic skills as a Police Detective, helping witnesses recall forgotten information. It was also at this time that Barker started performing his globally recognized comedy hypnosis show.

Richard chooses to focus most of his efforts on comedy hypnosis performances because he feels, "I give the people a compelling, fascinating, and entertaining entry into hypnosis and after that, they become curious as to what the mind can actually do."

Richard has been featured on The Today Show, The Late Show with James Corden, Entertainment Tonight and in publications across the globe.

Filled with high quality fun and "laugh out loud" interactions, all of the comedy in this program is clean, wholesome fun!
